

LESSON 2.2

commend: (v.) to speak of with approval; to praise

ex. I want to commend you on your behavior with the substitute, she said you were wonderful.

drudgery: (n.) dull, uninteresting work

ex. Scrubbing the floors is drudgery and is not something most people enjoy.

hoard: (n.) to store up for future use; to collect, often in a greedy way

ex. We began to hoard food supplies when we heard that a big snowstorm was coming.

luscious: (adj.) delicious; extremely sweet and pleasing to any of the sense

ex. The fresh peaches made a luscious pie that everyone devoured.

steadfast: (adj.) loyal; true

ex. Katie and I have been steadfast friends for many years and would do anything for each other.

LESSON 2.2

commend: (v.) to speak of with approval; to praise

ex. I want to commend you on your behavior with the substitute, she said you were wonderful.

drudgery: (n.) dull, uninteresting work

ex. Scrubbing the floors is drudgery and is not something most people enjoy.

hoard: (n.) to store up for future use; to collect, often in a greedy way

ex. We began to hoard food supplies when we heard that a big snowstorm was coming.

luscious: (adj.) delicious; extremely sweet and pleasing to any of the sense

ex. The fresh peaches made a luscious pie that everyone devoured.

steadfast: (adj.) loyal; true

ex. Katie and I have been steadfast friends for many years and would do anything for each other.