

LESSON 4.2

acknowledge: (v.) to recognize and answer

Ex. He sent a note to acknowledge the birthday gift I sent him.

dismal: (adj.) unhappy; cheerless

Ex. He responded to the bad news with a dismal sigh.

inevitable: (adj.) certain to happen; unavoidable

Ex. When my brakes failed, I knew some sort of collision was inevitable.

perplex: (v.) to puzzle; to cause uncertainty and confusion

Ex. A mystery story may perplex a reader until the end when it is finally solved.

unique: (adj.) highly unusual or extremely rare

Ex. Tony's musical ability is unique for someone so young.

LESSON 4.2

acknowledge: (v.) to recognize and answer

Ex. He sent a note to acknowledge the birthday gift I sent him.

dismal: (adj.) unhappy; cheerless

Ex. He responded to the bad news with a dismal sigh.

inevitable: (adj.) certain to happen; unavoidable

Ex. When my brakes failed, I knew some sort of collision was inevitable.

perplex: (v.) to puzzle; to cause uncertainty and confusion

Ex. A mystery story may perplex a reader until the end when it is finally solved.

unique: (adj.) highly unusual or extremely rare

Ex. Tony's musical ability is unique for someone so young.